Possible suicide: man steps onto freeway, dies

A West Sacramento man died Saturday night after stepping in front of a Yolobus on U.S. 50 near Harbor Boulevard Saturday at about 7 p.m.

Jason Pritchard, 18, was walking westbound on the freeway's shoulder when he stepped into traffic. The bus driver changed lanes to try to avoid Pritchard, but hit him during the lane change, a CHP officer told the media. Pritchard was pronounced dead at the scene.

An autopsy was scheduled to begin yesterday.

SF woman found dead after outing to Yolo Co. casino

The search for a 77-year old woman last seen walking away from a Yolo casino last Wednesday evening came to a sad end Sunday night.

The Yolo County sheriff's department found the body of Chee Tse on the edge of casino property in the town of Brooks. The cause of death is undetermined, but a sheriff's spokesperson said she had "health issues." There was no sign of foul play, said the Yolo coroner's office.

Tse was a resident of San Francisco who spoke only Cantonese, and who left home for the casino in western Yolo County on Tuesday, July 1.

Tse's family filed a missing persons report on July 4, and the search grew to include more than 60 people over the weekend, including a mounted posse, air units and tracking dogs.

Southbound I-5 lanes close again

Freeway closure number three started last night.

Caltrans were scheduled to shut down southbound I-5 in downtown Sacramento from 8 p.m. Tuesday to 5 a.m. on next Tuesday, July 15. Work will continue on repairs and upgrades to the freeway.

The closure is the third of four planned closures for the $27 million project.

Commuters and other travelers will use other routes – including surface streets in West Sacramento – to get around the closure.

'All the park's a stage'

Will Shakespeare comes to Southport

By Steve Marschke

"Shakespeare in the Park" comes to West Sacramento for the first time this weekend, as the West Sacramento Theater Company rolls out a production of "Much Ado About Nothing."

"Hopefully, it will be our first annual 'Shakespeare in the Park'," commented producer/actor Dan Beard. "Admission will be free. And before the play, we'll be doing a kiddie carnival – for a little money, kids can play games. Jamba Juice will be there selling juice, and we'll be selling water bottles and so forth."

The "stage" will be the bright green grass of Linden Park, on Linden Road at Summerfield Drive. Visitors will see one of Shakespeare's "easier to follow" productions, a "comedy" in which schemers try to interfere with romance, but good triumphs over evil.

"It's much easier to watch Shakespeare than to read him," said Beard. "You can get the gist of what's going on – 'so-and-so' is in love with 'so-and-so,' and so forth."

In the interests of preserving the budget, costume will be modern.

"We've updated the time frame of the play," Beard said. "We're working on a really tight budget, so we did that so we can all go into our closets and find something to wear. Costuming can eat up a budget."

Samantha Guitierrez, a 19-year old West Sacramentan, will be playing 'Dogberry,' a constable with the knack of using exactly the wrong word.

"My character is pretty much comic relief," said Gutierrez. "I think I'm very smart, and I'm not so smart, but I end up being right anyway."

Gutierrez is a veteran of River City High School's drama program. She says the cast is working hard to be ready for the acoustical challenge of working outdoors, next to a busy street.

"Even if people don't already know the play, I don't think they'll have trouble keeping up," she commented. "We're going to be loud and outgoing!"

"For most of us, it's our first Shakespeare," Beard said. "Most of us have done shows with the West Sacramento Theater Company. Some of the actors are fairly experienced. I think we're going to be ready by Saturday!"

Performances are free, at 6 p.m. on weekend evenings

Veteran director Helen Dahlberg will be at the helm of "Much Ado About Nothing."

The show is scheduled to run both Saturdays and Sundays at 6 p.m., on the weekends of July 12, 19 & 26. The "kiddie carnival" will start at 4 p.m. before each performance.

Tough to get a quorum

Local Democrats' club is paralyzed by its numbers, following mayor's campaign season tactic

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

File this one under "Unintended Consequences."

Earlier this year, West Sacramento Mayor Christopher Cabaldon's campaign chest paid the membership dues for about 700 people to join the formerly-sleepy West Sacramento Democratic Club. Before that influx, the club had only a few dozen people.

This move helped boost the number of party delegates the group was entitled to send to the state Democratic convention. That helped Cabaldon lock up the state party's endorsement for his candidacy in the 8th District Assembly race.

While that strategy worked, Cabaldon eventually lost a tight contest with Mariko Yamada to be the Democrats' ultimate nominee for Assembly in the fall.

The 700 new members, though, are still on the books at the local Democratic club. Most are evidently very "casual" members – unlikely to show up at a club meeting.

And therein lies the problem.

The group's bylaws say it needs a quorum of at least ten percent of its members – over 70 – to be present if the club wants to actually do anything at one of its meetings.

"About 35 showed up at our April meeting," said one member, who goes by the two-word name "four waters." "Without a quorum, under the state party's laws, you're only allowed to convene, meet, hear testimony and adjourn."

As long as the West Sacramento Democratic Club has a big membership list and a low attendance record, then, it seems to be stuck, said four waters.

She added that the club hopes to find a way to get around its new problem. Club members initially were divided about Cabaldon's campaign tactic, and some people alleged that some of the new members had even been signed up for membership without their consent. But those squabbles are in the past, said four waters.

"Whatever bad feelings there may have been, what was unanimously agreed upon in April is that we need to move forward in order to have a meaningful impact on the presidential elections in November."

The club has formed a subcommittee to look at solutions, she said. But since the subcommittee was formed without a vote of a club quorum, it's unofficial.

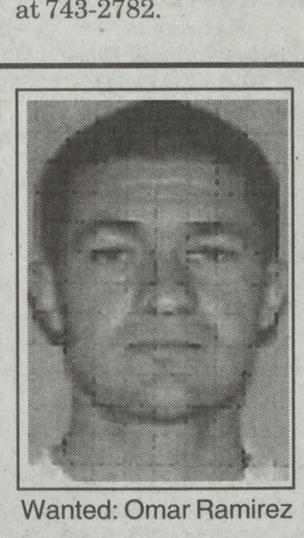
How can the club break its shackles?

"We can fix the club and resolve the quorum issue," said four waters, or "we can let the club go fallow until fees are again due (and allow some of the casual members to disappear through attrition). If we do that, we can set up an interim, secondary club in the meantime, with a loose affiliation with the Democratic party. One of our options is to make an active effort to get the next quorum numbers to show up at a meeting to change the bylaws. The other option is to reduce the size of the club down to a number where we can get a quorum."

Before the membership drive, said four waters, the West Sacramento Democratic Club had "fewer than 50" members.

The club invites interested Democrats to attend a meeting at 5:30 p.m. on July 17 at 1790 Terminal Street to discuss solutions. For more information, call four waters at 743-2782.

Woman critical after baseball-bat attack



Wanted: Omar Ramirez

West Sacramento police are looking for a local man believed to have entered the West Capitol Avenue home of his estranged wife, and beat her with an aluminum baseball bat.

The attack occurred at a mobilehome park at 1050 West Capitol Avenue, at about 3:45 p.m. on Friday, according to police records. Victim Sandra Gudarrama-Deramirez was hospitalized in critical condition, with severe head trauma, after the attack. Her condition was unknown at press time.

The suspect is Omar G. Ramirez, a Casselman Drive resident. Police described him as Hispanic, about six feet tall and weighing 160 pounds.

Anyone with information about Ramirez's whereabouts is asked to call police at 372-3375 or 617-4900.

My Back Pages

Why men should avoid writing advice columns:

Dear Al,

I hope you can help me. The other day I set off for work leaving my husband in the house watching TV as usual. But this time I hadn't gone more than a mile down the road when my engine conked out and the car abruptly came to a halt. So I walked back home to get my husband's help. When I got there I couldn't believe my eyes. He was in our bedroom with a neighbor lady making mad passionate love to her. I am 32, my husband is 34, and we have been married for 12 years. We have no children.

When I confronted him, he said that he had gone into the backyard after hearing a lady scream, found her unconscious, and then carried her back into our house to help her. He said he had laid her in our bed, began CPR, and that when she awoke, she immediately began thanking him and kissing him and that he was attempting to break free of her when I came into the room. But when I asked him why neither of them had any of their clothes on, he finally broke down and admitted that the two of them had been having an affair for the past six months.

I told him to stop seeing her or I would leave him. He was let go from his job about the time the affair started and he says the reason it began is because he has been feeling increasingly depressed and worthless. I still love him very much, but since I gave him the ultimatum he has become increasingly distant. Can you please help? Believe me, any advice you can give me would be greatly appreciated. Sincerely, Susie Fox

Dear Susie,

A car stalling after being driven a short distance can be caused by any number of things. Start by checking to see if there is any debris in the fuel line. If it is clear, then check the clips holding the vacuum lines onto the inlet manifold for air leaks. If none of these approaches solves the problem, it could be that the fuel pump itself is faulty, causing low delivery pressure to the carburetor float chamber. If that is the case, then the fuel pump will have to be replaced. I hope this helps. Al.

SPORTS

SPORTS INSIDER

By Richard Novoa

As the NFL teams prepare to open their 2008 training camps it's the NBA that's grabbing the sports headline news this week with the relocation of the Seattle Sonics NBA franchise.

Yes, the Sonics are moving to Oklahoma City. The Sonics 41-year run in Seattle ended Wednesday with a legal settlement that will let owner Clay Bennett take his team immediately to Oklahoma City in exchange for a $45 million payment.

The settlement requires Bennett to pay Seattle $45 million immediately and $30 million more in five years if the city doesn't get a new team. The City of Seattle gets no promise of a replacement team from the NBA but does get to keep the Sonics name and team colors.

The Kings will have the new Oklahoma City team in their division so stay tuned for a new team name and colors as the NBA prepares for their newest franchise. Rumors around the league mention Sacramento, Milwaukee, and Memphis as cities for Seattle to recruit by 2013 because expansion by the NBA is less of a possibility.

Speaking of relocation, Kings forward Ron Artest is now regretting his commitment to stay with Sacramento for one more season. Kings new point guard Beno Udrih accepted his new contract offer while Ron Ron, who expected a long term contract extension from the Kings, is not a happy camper - again!

Diamond Notes

The Giants (39-50) amazingly are only five games out of first place in their division considering they have the worst home field record in baseball. The Giants lost their final home game before the All-Star break and missed a chance to post their first winning home stand of the season. After losing four of seven games to the Cubs and Dodgers last week the G-Men are 17-28 at AT & T Park.

The A's (48-41) only trail the first place Angels by 5 games even though their list of players on the disabled list grows daily. With Frank Thomas, Eric Chavez, Keith Foulke and Bobby Crosby on the DL the A's reached down to the River Cats and pulled up some fresh troops.

Cats infielders Wes Bankston, Gregorio Petit and pitcher Brad Ziegler were called up to and are enjoying their cup of coffee in the Major Leagues. Bankston delivered his first major-league home run in his first game and Petit is filling in nicely at shortstop for Crosby and is hitting a cool .348 and let's not forget Ziegler, who pitched two scoreless innings to extend his career opening scoreless streak to 18 innings, the most in Oakland history, surpassing Steve Chitren (16).

The River Cats (52-39) have been struggling lately losing five of their last six games but the Gatos are still leading their division by 4 ½ games over Las Vegas. The Cats are headed for a record number of transactions because their parent team (A's) already has used the disabled list 18 times and we haven't even reached the All-Star break. The A's used the DL 22 times all of last season.

Speaking of the All-Star break, the A's will be represented in the Summer Classic at Yankee Stadium on July 15th by pitcher Justin Duchscherer while the Giants surprisingly will have two players named to the team. Pitchers Tim Lincecum and Brian Wilson were selected to the 79th Major League All-Star Game. Wilson was a surprise pick but I guess his 24 saves in 26 chances, impressed the all-star coaches.

The Giants will be in New York and Chicago this week before the All-Star break while the A's host Seattle during the week and the division leading Angels this weekend. The River Gatos will be at home during the week hosting Colorado before hitting the road on Friday for four games in Salt Lake City.

Q. One of my favorite shows is "Two and a Half Men." Can you tell me if the stars sing the theme song? — F.L., via e-mail

A. The opening of the popular CBS sitcom, starring Charlie Sheen, Jon Cryer and Angus T. Jones, features the stars lip-syncing the theme song. The song is, in fact, sung by studio singers — one of whom is actress/voice-over artist Elizabeth (E.G.) Daily. Her prolific resume includes "Rugrats," "Happy Feet," "Babe: Pig in the City" and "The Powerpuff Girls." She also co-starred in "Pee-Wee's Big Adventure," "Lorenzo's Oil" and "Dogfight."

Q. What is actor John Enos III doing these days? I loved him as Bobby Parezi on "Melrose Place." — Jessica M., Arcadia, Fla.

A. John recently completed filming a summer blockbuster-type movie for The Hallmark Channel called "Shark Swarm." It also stars Armand Assante, Darryl Hannah, John Schneider and F. Murray Abraham, among others. Look for the premiere over Memorial Day weekend.

Enos also has been busy writing, filming and editing funny little shorts for YouTube starring his Chihuahua. John told me recently: "Don't you know? Chihuahuas are the new tough-guy dog." Go to YouTube.com, search for "John Enos Chihuahua" and watch these funny shorts.

In the movie, Chief Winterhawk (Dante) is double-crossed by white traders while trying to make a deal for medicine for smallpox. Another choice for construction debris

From the County of Yolo

On May 12, the Yolo County Planning & Public Works Division of Integrated Waste Management opened its first construction and demolition transfer facility. The site of this facility for diversion of construction debris is at the Yolo County Central Landfill at 44090 County Road 28H in Woodland, California.

On average, 22 percent of the waste stream that is disposed of in California is comprised of construction and demolition debris. This new transfer operation will provide a local facility capable of providing construction and demolition recycling opportunities to those in and around Yolo County.

"At the current rate of disposal, the new facility is anticipated to extend the life of the landfill and make it easier for contractors and builders to achieve higher sustainability goals," said Yolo County Planning & Public Works Deputy Director Linda Sinderson.

Yolo County has partnered with North America's largest recycler, WM Recycle America, LLC, a subsidiary of Waste Management, Inc., in order to provide an efficient and cost effective approach which allows construction and demolition debris to be mixed together instead of sorting each material type into different containers, as is the traditional method.

"We find that the convenience of mixed loads allows for far greater recovery of materials and saves time and money on behalf of the contractors and builders needing to meet 50 percent diversion requirements," said Derek Harrington of WM Recycle America.

Items accepted in mixed construction and demolition loads include: carpet padding, drywall, concrete, asphalt, dirt, soil, gravel, bricks, scrap metals, shrink wrap, plastic strapping and tubing, clean plastics comprised of PETE, HDPE, LDPE and PP, lumber, pallets, painted wood, wood roof shingles, branches, and green waste.

Wildfire smoke keeps coming

From the Yolo-Solano Air Quality Management District

- Stay indoors with doors and windows closed as much as possible
- Asthmatics should follow their asthma management plan
- Contact your doctor if you have symptoms of cough, shortness of breath, or other symptoms you believe to be caused by smoke
- Those with heart disease should especially limit their smoke exposure since particulate matter (PM)* can cause heart attacks. *Fine particles of solid matter or liquid droplets from smoke, dust and fly ash.

While all persons may experience varying degrees of symptoms, the more sensitive individuals are at greatest risk to experience more aggravated symptoms which may include coughing, scratchy throat, watery and itchy eyes and difficulty breathing.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It was American author and philosopher Eric Hoffer who made the following sage observation: "We lie the loudest when we lie to ourselves."

• You probably know that certain species of snakes can grow to enormous size, with the longest specimens reaching upwards of 30 feet in length and the heaviest weighing more than 400 pounds. Kind of makes you wonder what these monstrous serpents eat — and you might be surprised. According to reports, a pet python named Houdini swallowed a queen-size electric blanket. Even more amazingly, after a two-hour operation, the snake lived!

• Interestingly, reports indicate that Alaskans eat twice as much ice cream per capita than the rest of the nation.

• It would seem that even powerful dictators can succumb to the pull of Hollywood. Il Duce, Benito Mussolini, was an extra in the film "The Eternal City," and Cuba's longtime dictator Fidel Castro had a bit part in a movie called "Holiday in Mexico."

• And speaking of film, the world's largest camera is located in Southern California, at El Toro Marine Corps Air Station, which is no longer in use for military purposes. An entire hangar building, originally used to house airplanes, was sealed to ensure that no light entered except through a single pinhole in the side of the building. Unsurprisingly, the world's largest camera was used to take the world's largest photograph. A made-to-order canvas was suspended within the erstwhile hangar and coated with a substance to make it light-sensitive. After a 35-minute exposure, the canvas was developed, creating a photo 3,375 square feet in size.

• Those in the fruit industry say that a fully ripe cranberry is bouncy and can be dribbled like a basketball.

• The long tails that are spread out in the sky behind comets are vapor trails, but the vapor is spread pretty thin. In fact, if you condensed all the vapor in a 10,000-mile vapor trail, it would take up less than 1 cubic inch.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

The Sacramento River registered two feet one inch, United States gauge at the Southern Pacific bridge yesterday. The tide now is beginning to show to such an extent that even at the intake of the Sacramento water works there is a daily average raise of from one foot to two and one-half feet and even three feet. Debris from the wharf building operations of the Southern Pacific Company at Front and M streets is passing the water intake on its way upstream and it may not be long before the sewerage pumped into the river by the sump at Front and U streets in Sacramento may also come upstream. For that matter, it is possible that the sewerage is now reaching a point near the Sacramento intake for the water being delivered to Sacramento citizens tastes very much as if it were tainted with sewerage. At the Washington intake there is no debris except that coming from the boathouses down the stream as far as the M street bridge, and these are being investigated by the Yolo County board of health under the direction of Dr. Lawhead of Woodland. The dredger that has been busy at the Sacramento intake has about cleared the channel for the water of the American River to reach the pumping plant. This means that it is only American River water that the residents of Sacramento will be supplied with. City Engineer Givan makes claim that the water of the American River is better than the water of the Sacramento River because it is not contaminated with refuse from sloughs, swimming holes and other contaminating influences. Whether Mr. Givan is right or wrong, this writer would not say, but it would appear that the water of the Sacramento River should be purer than that of the American River.

H. J. Knight, secretary of the Alaska Packers Association of San Francisco, was a visitor in West Sacramento yesterday looking over the holdings of the corporation and making preparations for the harvest season which is at hand. The Alaska packers have several hundred acres of land in West Sacramento, which is highly cultivated and shows a splendid growth of fruit, alfalfa, grain and other farm products.

William Uarje was a visitor at the Janik home in West Sacramento last Wednesday evening. He had driven a Ford automobile from Reno that day, after he had been robbed in the desert west of Salt Lake by two men he had picked up on the road. He claims that in compassion for the men he had taken them in his automobile and after driving some time they decided they would rather go west alone than accompany him any further. They quietly told him to give up his money and his belongings, which he did without a struggle, and he was relieved of $75 with which he intended to visit the eastern states.

The West Side Auto Camp near the subway at Fifth street has just finished the installation of a water system for the convenience of its patrons. An electric light supply wire has also been extended to the camp and preparations are now being made for the construction of forty one-room tent houses. The lumber is already on the ground and the building of these houses will start before next Monday. The well supplying water for the camp was dug to a depth of 170 feet and a wonderfully clear supply was found. A pressure system with an electric motor automatically operated will be the means of pumping water for the camp.

Larkin J. Mosher, son of Mrs. J. Pereira, and under 18 years of age, joined the United States navy in San Francisco last Tuesday with the consent of his parents. The boy wanted to see the wide, wide world and his folks believed that in the United States navy the best chance in the world presented itself.

On the Haley place west of town last Tuesday night a fire was started of unknown origin which consumed a good deal of pasture on the premises and caught to a large pile of four-foot wood that was cut down some time ago by the owners, Albericci and Fred Bertagna. On Tuesday night the Washington Volunteer Fire Department, under command of Fire Chief Barry, went out to quell the flames and did so successfully, after stretching 1100 feet of hose from the nearest fire hydrant. The fire was not extinguished, however, until about six cords of wood were consumed. On Wednesday evening again another fire was started in another pile of wood a short distance from the one that had been consumed the previous evening. The fire boys again went to the scene of the fire but it could not be extinguished and there being no dry grass in the neighborhood the fire apparatus was not turned out. The second fire on Wednesday evening destroyed about forty cords of wood in all.

Jack Reuther has added considerably to the conveniences in his barber shop by taking out a partition and enlarging the premises.

Last Thursday Sam Steuben, Tom Williams and Jack Reuther left for Icepond on a fishing trip of a couple of days. In some shady nook in that neighborhood they have discovered that trout are plentiful and on their return they expect to help out several of their friends who have been looking for a mess since the season opened. They expect to get back on Friday evening or Saturday morning. In the meantime Don Graff is taking Reuter's place in the barber shop and doing wonderfully well.

A valuable dog owned by the A. A. Dassonville family was poisoned last Tuesday in the neighborhood of the Dassonville home. The dog was a mixed breed, between a Shepherd and a Collie, and was highly prized by its owner.

Last Saturday morning Angel Campos was fined five dollars by Judge Barry on complaint of Speed Cop Sharpnack. Campos was found cutting grass for his cow on the highway in West Sacramento and while so engaged parked his automobile in the way of traffic, making it dangerous for drivers on the road. He paid the fine and promised to sin no more.

A telephone message from the home of J. N. Bennetts last night confirmed the report that he had been seriously ill during the past few days. The sickness was only of a trivial character, caused by a superfluity of obesity brought on by an easy time and little work. However, his physician declared that his heart needed attention and prescribed for him accordingly. Bennetts is ex-postmaster of Washington, but at the present time is engaged at the post office in Sacramento.

Mrs. I. K. Manchester is at her home in Washington after spending two weeks at Tres Pinos with her daughter, Mrs. Hilmer Josephs. They will remain with their grandmother during their vacation period.

The Hauser store at Third and Anne streets is undergoing repairs evidently with the idea of being occupied within the next few days. The place was lately used as a store by Chinese, but has been vacant for some months. The Independent was unable to secure any information concerning the new renters or the purpose for which the store is to be used, but a report was current that a grocery store is about to be opened there.

Joe Beltrami and Angelo Bonomi left last Tuesday morning in an auto for Eureka, Humbodlt County, where they expect to spend the greater part of this week, returning next Sunday or Monday. They expect to do some fishing on the way.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Ortiz entertained a number of friends at their home last Sunday in honor of their daughter, Mary, who graduated from the St. Joseph's Academy last Friday. The afternoon was devoted to games and music, after which dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Ernest Curry returned after spending several days visiting with friends and relatives at Venice.

CHINESE NINE BEATS WASHINGTON, 12 TO 4

The Chinese nine defeated the Washington stars of Broderick Sunday at William Land Park by a score of 12 to 4. Poor fielding by the Yolo boys and timely hitting by the Chinese was responsible for the high score.

Batteries—Washington Stars, Johnson, Bergone and Cline. Chinese, Yuke and Chow.

WASHINGTON BOOSTERS' CLUB ACTIVE IN DEVISING WAYS TO HELP IMPROVEMENT CONDITIONS

At the meeting of the Washington Boosters' Club last Tuesday evening in the town hall word was received from a committee concerning the widening of the sidewalk on Third street running between the S. P. bridge and the town hall.

Th matter had been taken up with the division superintendent of the S. P. Company, Thos. Ahern, who referred the question to the division engineer. He was given full power to do what was best in the matter of improving this sidewalk and removing a guy wire that obstructs a foot path.

Complaint was made also about a guy wire that hinders the pathway and sidewalk at Third and Harriett streets. Both these wires are the property of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company and a request was made to that corporation for remedial measures.

The club was informed that some praties not members of the organization, had been using the club's name in telephoning to Sheriff Monroe about conditions in Washington. It seems the parties who had been using the name of the club wanted to have things running their way and ordered the sheriff's office to take action accordingly.

Future consideration of this question will be taken up at another meeting of the club.

Supervisor Beardslee sent word to the club that he would attend a meeting of the organization in the near future and promised to do it at the earliest possible date.

There are many questions the Boosters' Club wants to take up with the supervisor, such as providing a dumping place for refuse from the homes, and the camping of parties along the roadways and streets of Washington without permission.

Another question the club desires to take up with Supervisor Beardslee is the cutting down of brush on the river slope of the front levee between the two bridges. It is in this shaded quarter that canned heat bums and other derelicts mix with dope fiends and in time become victims also. If the brush is cleared these victims of prohibition will not camp or lie around to the scandalizing of the neighborhood.

The secretary of the club was asked to write to Supervisor Beardslee, requesting that he be present at the next meeting on Tuesday evening.

No report having been received from the Yolo County Board of Health concerning the sanitary condition of the boathouses along the river front, the secretary was asked to write to Dr. Lawhead asking that some report be returned as soon as possible so that the river might not be contaminated at this time. This was particularly desired on account of the fact that the tide now is carrying debris northward in its fill and may contaminate the intake of the Washington water works.

It was decided that a full meeting of the club should be held next Tuesday evening so that in case Supervisor Beardslee should be present a good representation might be made at the meeting.

IRRIGATION CANALS OF WEST SACRAMENTO WELL FILLED

Certainly no fault can be found by land holders or renters of West Sacramento district this year for every irrigating ditch and drainage canal in the district is filled to the brim.

A great many farmers are taking advantage of the generous supply to irrigate their alfalfa and tomato land and at the present time it seems astonishing how much water the parched ground can take up.

Land that formerly or in previous years could not stand irrigation of any kind is greatly improved this year by a thorough flooding.

Many pumps are at work at the present time and yet the supply does not seem to diminish in the least, nor do the canals show any signs of receding through the continuous pumping.

Regulation isn't the answer to housing troubles

By: Susan DeMars, Executive Director California Mortgage Bankers Association

Over the last 10 years mortgage bankers have been innovative, creative and competitive in the development of new products, many of which allowed thousands of families to become homeowners where they otherwise would have never qualified for traditional loans. The vast majority of those families remain homeowners today. Even with the current wave of foreclosures, homeownership has declined just three-tenths of one percent since it peaked in 2004.

The same innovation and creativity that allowed these families to achieve the American Dream of homeownership are now under attack. New regulation has been proposed at both the state and federal level to restrict lending in the misguided hope that they can produce positive results for consumers and homeowners. Some new regulation is clearly needed to address issues of fraud and broker oversight, but the unintended consequences of other proposals would be disastrous for current and future homeowners.

All the regulation in the world will not bring the housing market back, given investor confidence are at an all time low, resulting in a lack of liquidity across all lending markets from housing, cars to business loans.

In California alone, legislators are considering over 20 mortgage-related bills that were introduced in reaction to the wave of foreclosures. Some corrective measures are necessary to protect consumers, but now is not the time to be adding further uncertainty to the market and hampering the economic recovery we all seek. In California, we cannot regulate our way out of the current mortgage crisis.

Overly restrictive legislation that attempts to usurp healthy market forces does nothing for homeowners currently in trouble and looks to address a problem that may have already been solved. Natural market conditions have dictated a sharp decline in all lending, particularly for more risky sub-prime loans, due to the uncertainty for repayment and lack of investor appetite. Many prudent consumers who sat out the housing boom and are now ready to buy a home are finding that even traditional loans are hard to obtain due to the lack of liquidity in the market.

Instead lawmakers should encourage investment in California's mortgage market by avoiding policy efforts that would either arbitrarily or retroactively change loan contracts, or create "California–only" rules that will only serve to drive out competition and drive up prices for future homeowners. The willingness of investors to provide capital for California's mortgage market will be based on the return of stability, certainty and uniformity. If investors are not convinced California real estate is a safe place to invest, we will only have succeeded in prolonging the current crisis by discouraging the flow of capital.

As in any competitive economic market, mortgage bankers must maintain a diversity of lending products by encouraging rather than discouraging secondary market investors to purchase non-traditional or sub-prime mortgage loans. Proposals to impose liability on investors that buy subprime or non-traditional loans will send a signal to investors that these products – and the people that use them – are not a good investment. Unfortunately, this would drive up the cost of obtaining a mortgage for the people that can least afford it and lock lower income borrowers and those without traditional credit histories out of the market.

When the housing market stabilizes, prices and rates are likely to be low enough that many Californians will be able to afford to purchase a home for the first time in almost a decade. Hopefully legislators and regulators have made the necessary changes to protect consumers while maintaining access to affordable credit.

Solving California's mortgage crisis will require careful deliberations, cooperation between mortgage lenders and policymakers and a proper understanding of the underlying economic issues that confront California today.

Knife concerns

I hope everyone had fun with their "undocumented fireworks" on Independence Day. I'm sitting here, though, somewhat perplexed, and I guess, easily confused. I've just received my latest catalog from the Sportman's Guide 2008 – Hunting Supplies, and I find we here in Yolo County have apparently gone upscale, since it seems we've been lumped in with Marin, Napa and Ventura counties by the knife Nazis.

I'm serious, we cannot purchase a simple hunting knife, plain or fancy, via a mail order catalog -- email or "snail mail.". We have to go to one of the other 54 counties in California in order to purchase the very same items at retail, instead of utilizing the discounts available to residents of those counties.

Just what is it we have in common with those counties? Huge gang problems? Huge undocumented seasonal labor? We've gone high fashion and adopted the mantra of marvelous Marin (I want it all, and I want it now!)? Maybe Bill could ask Mike just what the reasoning truly is for what appears to be an arbitrary, discriminatory and baseless law. Someone's political climb up the ladder at stake here?

Maybe we can still hunt and fish, but we can't skin, butcher or fillet any game we harvest. Neither can we collect such tools as well.

GO FIGURE! by Linda Thistle

"The Happening"

Running time: 90 minutes
MPAA rating: R

"The Happening" is the latest offering from M. Night Shyamalan — Hollywood's most self-indulgent filmmaker. That he is still allowed to inflict his poorly conceived claptrap on an unwilling populace is a testament to how much Hollywood hates us.

Make no mistake: "The Happening" is a bad movie. Really bad. It is "Wicker Man" bad. It is "Showgirls" bad (only without the drag queen appeal).

Thankfully, it is such a bad movie that you can't NOT miss it. "The Happening" plummets to such depths of ridiculousness and horribility (yes, horribility. It's a word. I know, cuz I just made it up) that it makes the oeuvre of Uwe Boll seem Kurosawaesque.

Here's the premise: The trees are mad at us. So, to get their revenge on the humanity that has despoiled the planet, the trees — without the use of a lab, government grant or opposable thumbs — conspire and create an airborne neurotoxin that makes humans go bonkers and kill themselves in elaborate ways.

Wait. It gets better.

The scientist (OK, not really. He's a high-school science teacher) who discovers this is played by Marky Mark. Yes, Marky Mark. Formerly of the Funky Bunch. He's such a brilliant mind that, at one point in the film, he decides to escape the Killer Trees by leading his ragtag group ... INTO A FOREST.

Oh, sure, there are a few legitimately good bits, like when the zookeeper throws himself to the lions or the guy who lets his lawn mower run over him. But most of the truly good bits happen during the first 15 minutes of the movie.

The rest is pure Badness.

I'm not going to suggest you see "The Happening" in the theater. But definitely rent it when it comes out on video. Make a few pitchers of margaritas, invite some friends and enjoy the train wreck.

GRADE: An über-ironic A+

Books

The 33-Year-Old Rookie
By Chris Coste
(Ballantine Books, $25)
By Chris Richcreek

Would you like a book in which the theme of the "Rocky" movies is fed into a baseball template?

That's a good description of "The 33-Year-Old Rookie," the true story of how Chris Coste made it to the major leagues with the Philadelphia Phillies after 11 years in the minors. In the Acknowledgments section, Coste even thanks the Phillie fans and the media for making him a kind of "modern-day Rocky."

The parallels are almost spooky. In Coste, you have a hardworking but aging athlete who can't seem to secure a shot at the big time. There are many people who don't see his true talent, and a manager (or two) and a woman (his wife) who do believe in him. There's even the setting of Philadelphia.

What makes Coste's autobiography climb above being a boring movie parallel is that you really feel what Coste feels — you are just as amazed as he is that he hasn't made it yet. You feel the pain of his bad breaks, especially the one at the end of spring training in 2006 in which he has basically made the team until the Phillies acquire another player and send Coste back down to the minors.

But later that year, at the age of 33, he does get called up, and you can't help but root for him — and worry when he starts 0-for-13 at the plate and faces the possibility of being sent back down.

Yet, like any good storybook hero, he rights himself and finishes 2006 with a .328 batting average and seven home runs while doing a solid job as a catcher. The Postscript notes that he started 2007 back in the minors, but once again made it back to "The Show." As of this writing in 2008, he is still a key member of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Coste's story is real, well-told and absorbing. In short, it's a perfect summer baseball book.

Donna's Day
Creative family fun

No-Cook Gazpacho Is a Taste of Spain

Stir up a no-cook meal for your family on a hot summer day. Just spin the globe until your finger lands on Spain, and think Gazpacho! The season's freshest tomatoes, cukes, peppers and onions come together in this satisfying and zesty cold Spanish soup. Let your kids harvest some of the ingredients from your family garden, or choose them in peak condition at a farmer's market. Teach your school-age children basic cutting and chopping techniques. They'll have lots of practice with this recipe!

If you don't mind turning on your oven for a few minutes, top off the soup with whimsical kid-made croutons in fun shapes. Serve it in the fanciest bowl that you use for special occasions.

For 4-6 servings, here's what you'll need:

GAZPACHO
—2 cups seeded, finely diced plum tomatoes
—1 cup cored, seeded, finely diced yellow bell pepper
—1/2 cup peeled, seeded, finely diced cucumbers
—1/4 to 1/2 cup finely diced celery
—1/4 cup minced carrots
—1/4 cup minced celery leaves
—1/4 cup minced yellow onion
—2 cups tomato vegetable juice (such as V8)
—1/2 cup clam juice (optional)
—2 tablespoons minced chives
—2 tablespoons olive oil
—1 tablespoon red wine vinegar
—Juice of one lemon
—Salt and pepper to taste

Let your child mix all ingredients together in a large bowl. Refrigerate for at least two hours to chill and enhance the flavor. Scoop into a serving bowl and top with shaped croutons.

SHAPED CROUTONS
—1 loaf French bread sliced lengthwise with crust removed
—3 tablespoons butter or olive oil
—1 garlic clove, pressed
—1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese (optional)
—Salt and pepper to taste

Make shapes from bread with favorite mini cookie cutters.

Combine melted butter or olive oil with garlic and salt and pepper. Brush on top of cutouts. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese (optional).

Bake in 350 F oven for 10 minutes.

Tip: Put freezer-safe serving bowls for gazpacho in freezer before serving.

Fave Foods of the Famous

Joseph Gannascoli

As Vito Spatafore (Baby Cakes) on the all-time HBO hit "The Sopranos," Joseph R. Gannascoli commanded his scenes with a dynamic and forceful presence. You know him from his roles in other TV shows and major motion pictures. Born in New York City, Gannascoli worked as a chef before getting in front of the camera. He has written a bestselling novel, "A Meal to Die For," and even markets his own brand of pasta sauce. Gannascoli is the national spokesman for Bright Steps Forward, which provides funding for intensive pediatric therapy to financially disadvantaged children with neurological disorders such as cerebral palsy, disabilities of prematurity, autism and other congenital or acquired conditions that affect their physical functioning. For more info: www.brightstepsforward.org and www.joesoup.com

A favorite food scene from "The Sopranos":

"A hero sandwich was thrown at me by Christopher Moltisanti, who was Michael Imperioli's character. I told him to sit down, that I was a captain, and to shut up."

Best foods items on "The Sopranos" set were:

"I used to love the antipasto they had on the set. Also, the set was on Mulberry Street in Little Italy in New York City, and they brought in catering from area restaurants."

A synopsis of your new book, "A Meal to Die For."

"This book is loosely based on my life as a chef. The character Benny Lacoco dreamed of being a great chef and had a bad gambling habit. To pay off his habit, he became a food fence. Benny is well connected and a man of respect. But there is another side to Benny. He's a gourmet cook who once aspired to be a renowned restaurateur. But business, and other matters equally unsavory, got in the way. Now Benny has been summoned to cook a special meal for some of his associates on the occasion of the big man being sent up the river. This gives Benny the chance to prepare the meal of his life, "A Meal to Die For," because word has it that someone in their midst is a rat, and some things just can't be forgiven. In the book, I serve up flashbacks of Benny's life in a novel that blends the best of 'Big Night' with 'Goodfellas.'"

You're at the Pearly Gates, and God wants you to cook a majestic meal. What's on the menu?

"Linguini with crab sauce. Hey, He would want lamb."

Biggest tip you ever gave:

"I shelled out a couple of hundred dollars to a waitress at a casino when I was winning big. Why? She was hot!"

SUBJECT: NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING TO DETERMINE THE SCOPE OF A DRAFT SUPPLEMENTAL ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT REPORT FOR THE TRIANGLE SPECIFIC PLAN AREA

The City of West Sacramento will hold a scoping meeting for the proposed Triangle Specific Plan Supplement Environmental Impact Report (Proposed Project) pursuant to CEQA Guideline 15082. The purpose of the scoping meeting is to solicit input from agencies, organizations, and individuals to assist the lead agency in determining the scope and content of the Draft Environmental Impact Report (Draft EIR). Persons may attend either meeting.

SCOPING MEETING INFORMATION:

Date: Wednesday, July 23, 2008

Times: 4:00-5:00 p.m., or until the last speaker is heard; 6:00-7:00 p.m., or until the last speaker is heard

Location: West Sacramento Civic Center – Galleria Room 157
1110 West Capitol Avenue
West Sacramento, CA 95691

Project Location

The area covered by the Triangle Specific Plan is located within the City of West Sacramento, in Yolo County, and consists of approximately 188 acres adjacent to the Sacrament River . The area is bordered by the Sacramento River on the east, Tower Bridge Gateway on the northwest, and US 50 on the southwest.

Project Overview and Background

The West Sacramento Triangle Specific Plan was adopted in 1993. The Specific Plan was prepared based on the following assumptions and methods:

Certain site features, such as interchanges, particular existing uses, roadways and related features are not likely to change in the near future.

Functioning, non-conforming businesses in the Plan Area are assumed to continue operating through initial implementation phases.

It is assumed that within the effective life of the Specific Plan, the mainline railroad will be relocated outside the Plan Area and SR275 will be reclassified to allow at grade street intersections.

Base on the economic/market feasibility information prepared for the Specific Plan, the assumption is that properties in closer proximity to the Sacramento River have a higher degree of potential for early term development. This is based in part on the assumption that there is less improvement to existing access and infrastructure needed to initial develop such properties.

Programs of anticipated development are based upon projected absorption for residential, commercial retail uses in the Plan area.

Since the adoption of the Specific Plan, a number of development projects have been constructed in the Plan area. These include Raley Field, the Ironworks residential development, and the CEMEX relocation. Additionally, the City secured funding for the realignment of the former SR275, now a City arterial street called Tower Bridge Gateway.

Other projects in the planning and permitting stage in the Plan area include the Fulcrum mixed-use development project, the Riveredge project, and the Raley Field entertainment venue.

At this time, the City of West Sacramento is proposing several amendments to the Triangle Specific Plan in order to be able to implement the vision of the Plan. Although the vision of the Plan will remain largely unchanged, several of the development and implementation standards need to be modified and supplemented to achieve the vision in 2008 and beyond.

Project Characteristics – Proposed Amendments to the Specific Plan

The proposed amendments to the Triangle Specific Plan include:

1. Redistribution of allowable residential and commercial build-out potential amongst the sub-neighborhoods of the Plan and establish target build-out figures on a per block basis.
2. A revised street network including the introduction of universal streets.
3. Changes in spacing requirements for view corridors.
4. Changes in block sizes in the Core neighborhood.
5. Merger of the Park Bocks neighborhood into the Core and Parkway Edge while retaining a design overlay district over those parcels fronting Ball Park Drive.
6. Revised design standards for Garden Street and adjacent building frontages.
7. Design standards for buildings fronting universal streets.
8. Updated commercial and residential parking standards.
9. Revised affordable housing requirements.
10. Changes to mandatory retail locations and introduction of retail convertibility requirements.
11. Introduction of street hierarchies.
12. Bicycle and transit routes.
13. Construction of a sewer lift station.
14. Construction of an interim riverfront promenade.
15. Construction of 3rd and 5th Streets intersections with Tower Bridge Gateway.
16. Added the CEMEX parcel to the RGA Edge and Waterfront Neighborhoods
17. Acquisition of a road easement on the CEMEX parcel to connect South River Road to 5th and 15th Streets.

The text of the Plan will be modified to include the above changes and additions. In addition, the existing Volume II (technical appendix) of the Plan will be replaced with a new document entitled "Implementation Strategy." This document will incorporate the above changes and include the financing plan for the Triangle's required infrastructure.

As amended, the Specific Plan would provide a land use framework that is intended to be market-responsive in terms of the exact type and density of future development. This EIR evaluates a single program that reflects existing projects, projects in the planning and permitting stages, and a uniform application by neighborhood of remaining entitlements by block level that accounts for approximately 75% of maximum entitlements as allocated by Specific Plan.

The basic land use plan and street layout would remain the same for each neighborhood, with some modifications to the boundaries of neighborhoods, including the elimination of one neighborhood (Park Blocks), the addition of a parcel to a neighborhood and the movement of entitlements from some of the neighborhoods into the Core. Under this program, the entitlements have been allocated by neighborhood using formulas described or interpreted by staff in the Specific Plan. The entitlements were further broken down into blocks using either the results from the fair-share of entitlements formula or data from existing projects or projects in the planning and permitting stages. These blocks and their neighborhood boundaries have been fit to the grid conceptually approved by the City Council. The street network consists predominantly of a grid pattern with streets running in a roughly southwest-northeast and northwest-southeast direction. Table 1 presents, by neighborhood, a build out breakdown of this program.

Table 1

Neighborhood	Dwelling Units	Office SQFT	Retail SQFT	Comm SQFT
Core	750	1,712,091	71,000	0
Parkway Edge	939	399,084	5,000	130,000
RGA Edge	958	1,547,825	4,500	0

Total	4,442	4,321,039	216,200	365,450

Development Agreement/Owner Participation Agreement

In addition to the above listed amendments to the Plan, the City and its redevelopment agency intend to enter into a development agreement/owner participation agreement (DA/OPA) with several property owners in the Triangle. The DA/OPA would serve to accomplish the following objectives:

- Vest property owners in current General Plan land use designations and zoning.
- Require property owners to form a Community Facilities District to finance construction of a first phase of infrastructure including road and utility construction.
- Revised impact fee programs including establishment of a land based Triangle impact fee that is based on approximately 9.6 million square feet of development.
- Minimum densities equivalent to 50% of the target build-out on a per block basis.
- Land dedication for roadways, parks, and promenade.
- Relinquishment of excess public right of way.
- Granting of a purchase option to the City/Agency for the proposed promenade plaza.

PUBLIC REVIEW PERIOD: The comment period for the Notice of Preparation began on Wednesday, July 9, 2008 and will run through August 7, 2008. 'Lost Luggage' project

The 'Lost Luggage Project' attempts every year to dramatize the ways in which children end up in trouble, and need help from the Yolo County foster care system. The project is looking for your donations of suitcases, backpacks, diaper bags, book boxes, etc., which will each be used to represent about four kids and illustrate the scenario that brought a child into foster care. For example, a red tag on one of the 100 pieces of luggage might symbolize physical abuse; a blue tag, sexual abuse, etc. Contact Hiedi Andersen, Coordinator, Family Fun Barn, (530) 867-1696 – cell, hiedi@mac.com. The exhibit will be shown at the Yolo County Fair in August.

Night Out

The National Night Out Against Crime will return the evening of August 5. The West Sacramento Police Department invites local neighborhoods to plan their own block parties, cookouts, ice cream socials or other activities.
